Steve's client relationships are built on a comprehensive understanding and identification of his clients' needs and objectives. He works closely with his clients to craft strategically appropriate solutions to achieve their desired objectives.

In today's fast-paced transaction climate, Steve places a particular emphasis on providing quick, clear and solution-driven responses that address the needs of his clients. This approach has produced successful results for a number of high-profile M&A and capital raising transactions.

Steve also helps private and public companies successfully navigate a broad range of other transactions, including joint venture, recapitalization, restructuring and equity financing transactions. He also advises clients on '33 Act and '34 Act securities and compliance matters, board governance matters, and general corporate matters.
