Amy's represents clients across a broad range of industries, with particular focus on the media and entertainment, sports, fashion, consumer products, and alcoholic beverage industries.

She was seconded in-house at Warner Bros. Discovery during the SVP of IP & Litigation's two parental leaves and worked as a legal intern in Comcast Cable's Government Affairs office. She brings that in-house experience to her day-to-day practice, finding practical, business-oriented solutions to her client's IP needs.

Amy manages the global trademark portfolios for several large clients, and regularly assists clients of all sizes with selecting, clearing, registering, and enforcing trademarks, both domestically and abroad. She counsels clients on myriad IP matters from copyright to right of publicity, and regularly handles domain name and social media disputes.

In addition to her traditional IP practice, Amy works closely with the firm's Corporate Group, routinely handling all IP aspects of corporate transactions, including asset purchase agreements, stock purchase agreements, SPAC and De-SPAC transactions, naming rights agreements, and joint venture agreements, as well as drafting and negotiating settlement agreements, co-existence agreements, licenses, and right of publicity releases.

Previous Work

Amy served as a law clerk for the US Department of Justice, US Attorney's Office in Washington, DC. Amy also worked as a legal intern in the Government Affairs Office for Comcast Cable, working on a wide variety of telecommunications and intellectual property issues.
