Beth is nationally recognized for her work on behalf of secured and unsecured indenture trustees and agents, both in and out of court. She has vast experience representing creditors' committees, lenders, landlords, and strategic purchasers to maximize value and business opportunities in distressed situations.

Client Work

Beth has successfully guided clients through some of the most complex reorganizations filed in the last decade. Her experience spans multiple industries, including hospitality, health care, pharmaceuticals, cosmetics, and energy. She is recognized for her work on behalf of indenture trustees and agents in chapter 11 cases such as Hertz, Caesars, PG&E, Intelsat, and Mallinckrodt. She also represents trustees and agents in municipal workouts, both in and out of court. In addition, she regularly represents creditors' committees, landlords, trade creditors, and bridge lenders navigating the challenges of distressed situations. She advises boards of financially troubled companies on corporate governance and fiduciary issues, as well as strategic purchasers acquiring assets of distressed companies. Beth is known for her strategic approach to driving results in challenging situations and her business acumen in developing solutions.
